

The image shows the interior of a grand, historic building, likely a library or a museum. A prominent feature is a large, ornate metal staircase with a decorative pattern on the steps, leading upwards. The building has a high ceiling with a large, circular skylight or dome structure. The walls are light-colored and feature arched windows and doorways. Several people are visible in the lower level, some standing and talking, others walking. The overall atmosphere is one of a well-maintained, historic interior space.

MAJOR NEW TITLES THIS MONTH

Alderton, Patrick, Port Management and Operations 3rd ed, Informa Publishing, Hardback, £125.00, ISBN: 9781843117506 Port Management and Operations is an essential guide to port management in the 21st century. Providing the reader with a complete understanding of total port activity, the new edition will enable managers working in specific areas of ports to see where they fit into the port's operation and commercial practice as a whole. The book also offers an analysis of the many types of ports along with the common essential elements that enable them to function, including administration, management, economics and operations.

Allen, Christopher, Practical Guide to Evidence 4th ed, Routledge-Cavendish, Paperback, £25.95, ISBN: 9780415457194 Practical Guide to Evidence provides a clear and readable account of the law of evidence, acknowledging the importance of arguments about facts and principles as well as rules. The fourth edition has been revised and updated to address the radical changes brought about by the Criminal Justice Act 2003, particularly in relation to hearsay, character evidence and opinion evidence and to expand coverage of the Human Rights Act 1998. Particular attention is given to changes made by the revised Codes of Practice, and to the growing body of case law on topics, such as reverse burden of proof, the cross-examination of rape victims, evidence obtained by entrapment, and silence in the face of police questioning. Now including enhanced pedagogical support such as chapter summaries, further reading advice and boxed examples, this leading textbook can be used on both undergraduate and professional courses. It is also supported by a Companion Website offering twice annual updates to the cases and legislation discussed within the text.

Antoine, Rose-Marie Belle, Commonwealth Caribbean Law and Legal Systems 2nd ed, Routledge-Cavendish, Paperback, £45.00, ISBN: 9781859418536 Fully updated and revised to fit in with any new laws and structure in the Caribbean law and legal systems, this new edition examines the institutions, structures and processes of the law in the Caribbean.

Arup, Christopher, The World Trade Organization Knowledge Agreements 2nd ed, Cambridge University Press, Hardback, £55.00, ISBN: 9780521881234
The WTO intellectual property and services agreements (TRIPs and GATS) form the global legal framework in which governments now regulate trade in knowledge. This second edition analyses the provisions of the agreements and examines closely the thirteen years of implementation and revision. Gathering together the interpretations placed on the agreements by the WTO dispute settlement bodies, it reports on the initiatives taken by the members both to liberalise trade in knowledge and to shape international business regulation. Drawing on this, Christopher Arup assesses the future of the WTO as a global law-making institution. Three expanded case studies (legal services, genetic codes/essential medicines, and on-line media) illustrate the impact of the agreements and highlight the challenges faced by the WTO in reconciling free trade with social regulation.

Barlow, John; King, Lesley; King, Anthony, Wills, Administration and Taxation: A Practical Guide 9th ed, Sweet & Maxwell Ltd, Paperback, £37.50, ISBN: 9781847034564
Wills, Administration and

Taxation – A Practical Guide provides clear, straightforward guidance on all aspects of law and procedure in this area. Its practical approach is attractive to practitioners looking for clarification or who are new to this area, and to those studying the subject at LPC where the learning is practically focused.

Trade Marks and Brands: An Interdisciplinary Critique, Cambridge University Press, Hardback, £65.00, ISBN: 9780521889650 This volume assembles essays examining trade marks and brands from a multiplicity of fields: from business history, marketing, linguistics, legal history, philosophy, sociology and geography. Each chapter pairs lawyers' and non-lawyers' perspectives, so that each commentator addresses and critiques his or her counterpart's analysis.

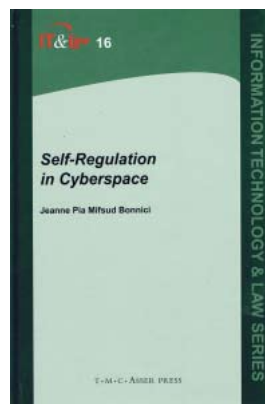

Bernitz, Ulf; Nergelius, Joakim; Cardner, Cecilia, General Principles of EC Law in a Process of Development, Kluwer Law International, Hardback, £82.00, ISBN: 9789041127051 What are the basic principles underlying European Community Law? Although no one seeks a purely descriptive answer to this question, the discussion it gives rise to is of immense significance both for theoretical legal studies and for legal practice. Over the years, scholars have convened from time to time to re-examine the question in the light of new developments. This important volume offers insights and findings of the latest such conference, held at Stockholm in March 2007, and sponsored by the Swedish Network for European Legal Studies. The nineteen essays here printed are all final author-edited versions of papers first presented at that conference.

Blake, Julian, Charitable Status 6th ed, Directory of Social Change, Paperback, £14.95, ISBN: 9781903991862 The latest edition of this authoritative handbook has been fully updated to take account of the Charities Act 2006 and other recent developments in charity law. It examines key issues affecting charities (including the Charity Commission's guidance on delivering public benefit) and covers the interplay between charities and social enterprise.

Bonnici, Jeanne Pia Mifsud, Self-Regulation in Cyberspace, T.M.C. Asser Press, Hardback, £40.00, ISBN: 9789067042673

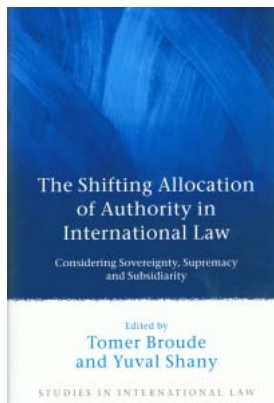

This book examines the function of self-regulation in cyberspace. It argues that, contrary to what is often supposed in the literature, self-regulation is still an indispensable part of regulation of the Internet and will arguably remain so.

Boyd, Stewart C.; Berry, Steven; Burrows, Andrew S.; Eder, Bernard; Foxton, David; Smith, Christopher F., Scrutton on Charterparties and Bills of Lading 21st ed, Sweet & Maxwell Ltd, Hardback, £250.00, ISBN: 9780421915107 Scrutton on Charterparties is a central work in the literature on charterparties. Examining over 100 new cases in the new, 21st edition, the work covers the general principles in the fields of time charters, voyage charters and demise charters. It clears up uncertainties in points of law, whilst illustrating their application using a wide variety of case material. The organisation of the work is very clear, logical and accessible: its arrangement as a series of Articles covers all the specific topics of research a practitioner needs. The book covers charterparties as forms of commercial contract, and enables solicitors to draft better contracts, and barristers to test them.

Broude, Tomer ; Shany, Yuval , The Shifting Allocation of Authority in International Law: Considering Sovereignty, Supremacy and Subsidiarity, Hart Publishing, Hardback, £60.00, ISBN: 9781841137971 In this book, leading international legal scholars address a broad range of theoretical and practical aspects of the question of allocation of authority in international law and debate the feasibility of three alternative paradigms for international organization: Sovereignty, Supremacy and Subsidiarity. The various contributions transcend technical solutions to what is in essence a problem of international constitutional dimensions. They deal, inter alia, with the structure of the international legal system and the tenacity of sovereignty as one of its foundations, assess the role of supremacy in inter-judicial relations, and draw lessons from the experience of the European Union in applying the principle of subsidiarity.

This text is a practical, rule-by-rule guide to the Rules of the International Chamber of Commerce, the world's leading international arbitration institution. It is for both the experienced practitioner and those approaching international arbitration for the first time, clearly explaining basic principles while at the same time providing the depth of analysis and references needed to solve the complex procedural issues that can arise during the arbitration process.

Butterfield, Roger, Gambling and Gaming Licensing: A Practical Guide, Shaw & Sons Ltd, Paperback, £24.95, ISBN: 9780721917207
Announced as: The Gambling Act 2005: A Practical Guide
The Gambling Act 2005 has brought about the biggest change in the law relating to gaming and betting for nearly 40 years. The changes affect casinos, betting shops, bingo halls, amusement arcades, pubs and clubs with gaming machines, and small lotteries. This important new book provides a practical explanation of the legislation to help people understand the changes to the law, what licences are needed for what activities, how applications have to be made and who will issue them.

Button, Maurice, A Practitioner's Guide to the Financial Services Authority Listing Regime 2008/2009, City & Financial Publishing, Paperback, £99.00, ISBN: 9781905121328

This is the definitive, annual guide to the requirements of the Listing, Prospectus, and Disclosure and Transparency Rules. It offers practical guidance on the eligibility criteria and continued obligations for listing on the London Stock Exchange. The disclosure requirements and the contents, approval and publication of prospectuses are also covered.

Press, Paperback, £26.99, ISBN: 9780199231638
Card, Cross & Jones Criminal Law is widely acknowledged as one of the very best introductory texts on the substantive criminal law of England and Wales. This popular title combines breadth of coverage with readability and sets out the principal points of criminal law in a systematic and thorough way. It is designed for use on undergraduate degree courses, and graduate diplomas in law. The eighteenth edition has been substantially updated to include legislative and case law developments since the last edition, including the Fraud Act 2006, and is now even more closely linked to syllabus requirements.

Carr, Paul; Turner, Adrian; Stones Justices, Stone's Justices' Manual 2008, LexisNexis Butterworths, Hardback, 3 Volumes & CD-ROM, £479.60, ISBN: 9781405728911

Stone's Justices' Manual is relied upon each year by thousands of professionals to provide the most reliable and current coverage of the legislative changes affecting magistrates' courts. With the accompanying CD-ROM, Stone's provides comprehensive coverage of all existing, new and amended legislation affecting the magistrates' courts and hundreds of new cases that set precedents or clarify particular principles of law. As part of the subscription, an updating CD-ROM is provided in October.

Cassese, Antonio; Gaeta, Paola; Zappala, Salvatore, The Human Dimension of International Law: Selected Papers, Oxford University Press, Hardback, £70.00, ISBN: 9780199232918

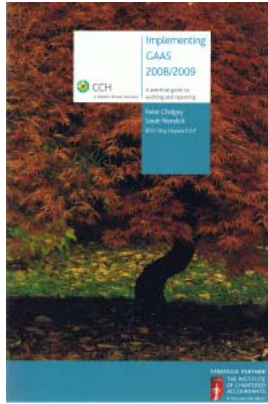

This book collects together the most important papers of Antonio Cassese, the first President of the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia and chairman of the UN Commission of Inquiry into the crimes committed in Darfur. Written over a period of 25 years, from 1974 to 2001, the papers chart the development of Cassese's thought on the central issues that have shaped his life's work: the laws relating to armed conflict, respect of individual rights and the prosecution of individuals for international crimes. Emerging from the papers is Cassese's vision of the individual and human dignity as the lynchpin of the international legal system, and the need to balance the fact of statehood as an essential feature of modern international society with the protection of individual rights. In a new paper, written especially for the collection, Cassese looks back over the development of his un-

Cooke, Julian; Cornah, Richard, Lowndes and Rudolf: The Law of General Average and the York-Antwerp Rules 13th ed, Sweet & Maxwell Ltd, Hardback, £245.00, ISBN: 9781847030337 This is a new edition of the leading work on this subject, first published in the 1870s. It provides detailed, section-by-section commentary on the recently revised York-Antwerp Rules.

Cunnington, Ralph; Saidov, Djakhongir, Contract Damages, Hart Publishing, Hardback, £85.00, ISBN: 9781841137414 This book is a collection of essays examining the remedy of contract damages in the common law and under the international contract law instruments such as the Vienna Convention on Contracts for the International Sales of Goods and the UNIDROIT Principles of International Commercial Contracts. The essays, written by leading experts in the area, raise important and topical issues relating to the law of contract damages from both theoretical and practical perspectives. The book aims to inform readers of current developments, problems, trends and debates surrounding contract damages and reflects an ongoing dialogue on damages among representatives of common law, civil law, mixed and trans-national legal systems. The general issues addressed in the collection include the purpose and scope of damages, the measures of damages, recoverability of losses, methods of limiting damages, and the assessment of damages. A special emphasis is placed on the examination of the role of gain-based damages, the meaning and definition of loss, the recoverability of damages for injury to business reputation, the recoverability of legal fees, the rules of mitigation and foreseeability, the dilemma between the 'abstract' and 'concrete' approaches to the calculation of damages, and the relationship between changes in monetary value and the assessment of damages.

de Weger, Frans, Jurisprudence of the FIFA Dispute Resolution Chamber, T.M.C. Asser Press, Hardback, £110.00, ISBN: 9789067042710 In its journey towards establishing uniformity, FIFA created a Dispute Resolution Chamber (DRC) in 2001 to resolve disputes regarding the international status and transfer of players. During the years 2002–2006, exactly 597 decisions of the DRC were published on the website of FIFA. In this book all the relevant decisions of the DRC during that period are analysed and classified into different categories. After a discussion of the most relevant judicial aspects in relation to the DRC, the different categories of disputes, amongst others the termination of the employment contract, the amount of compensation and the sporting sanctions, are discussed in depth.

Ferran, Ellis, Principles of Corporate Finance Law, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £45.00, ISBN: 9780199230518

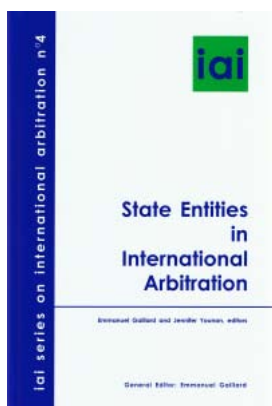

The book examines the key elements of the legal environment relating to corporate finance in the UK. This evolving environment has just undergone a remarkable period of far-reaching change. This was driven in part by the desire of the UK government to modernise its domestic company law, and in part by policy choices at the EU level which rely heavily on the adoption of new regulation to promote closer integration of European financial markets. In this book, Eilis Ferran provides a detailed analysis of the technical issues arising from the new UK and European law on corporate finance, and combines this with exploration of the broader policy framework and with cutting edge research.

Gagarin, Michael, Writing Greek Law, Cambridge University Press, Hardback, £55.00, ISBN: 9780521886611

The use of writing in the development of Greek law was unique. In this comparative study Professor Gagarin shows the reader how Greek law developed and explains why it became so different from the legal systems with which most legal historians are familiar.

Gaillard, Emmanuel; Younan, Jennifer, State Entities in International Arbitration, Juris Publishing, Hardback, £85.00, ISBN: 9781929446964

States get involved in international affairs either directly or through their instrumentalities. The activities of these instrumentalities raise many issues, two of which have given rise to significant recent developments both in arbitral and domestic case law. The first is whether and under what conditions a State may be held liable for the conduct of such instrumentalities on the basis of an investment treaty. This issue will be the subject of a systematic survey of ICSID and ICC case law and that of other arbitral tribunals so as to identify the circumstances in which such liability may arise. The second issue, which is addressed by State courts, is whether and under what conditions State instrumentalities that have a separate and autonomous legal personality may be held liable for the pecuniary obligations of the State. A comparative law study focusing in particular on solutions found in French, English and U.S. law will provide answers to the question as to whether an award holding a State liable may be enforced against the assets of instrumentalities of that State, where such instrumentali-

Geradin, Damien (Université de Liège, Belgium), Trade and the Environment, Cambridge University Press, Paperback, £18.99, ISBN: 9780521065689

Trade and the Environment is a penetrating analysis of the relation between trade and environmental protection policies in the EC and the US. It argues that the international tensions arising from policies designed to protect trade and the environment can be resolved by the free trade provisions of the EC Treaty and the US Constitution, and from the setting of common environmental standards for all parties. It discusses also the contributions of the judiciary and legislature toward the solution of these tensions. The interaction between them, writes Dr Geradin, shapes the balance between trade and environmental objectives in the Community and the United States. More generally, they define the progress of environmental protection in these systems.

Ghani, Ashraf; Lockhart, Clare, Fixing Failed States: A Framework for Rebuilding a Fractured World, Oxford University Press, Hardback, £13.99, ISBN: 9780195342697

Fixing Failed States addresses one of the central issues of our times: the proliferation of failed states across the world and our inability to stabilize them. There are between forty and sixty failed states, and they house one billion people. The world's worst problems—terrorism, drug and human trafficking, absolute poverty, ethnic conflict, disease, genocide—originate in such states, and the international community has devoted billions upon billions of dollars to solving the problem. Yet by and large, the effort has failed.

Centres: A World Survey 8th ed, Sweet & Maxwell Ltd, Hardback, £195.00, ISBN: 9781847033284

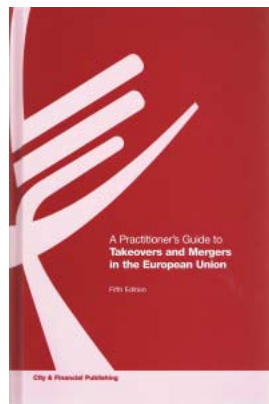

Offshore Business Centres: A World Survey has acquired an international reputation as one of the most valuable sources of information in its field. It provides detailed, in-depth coverage of the legislation and workings of each offshore tax jurisdiction, from Anguilla and the Bahamas to Uruguay and Vanuatu. The new 8th edition includes coverage of new offshore jurisdictions such as Dubai and the USA, along with the huge volume of legislation in this field in recent years. It incorporates new tax treaties and information exchange agreements, which have established new vehicles (such as the “cell” company and the limited liability partnership) and which have amended legislation relating to companies, electronic transactions, insurance, trusts, etc.

Harpum, Charles; Bridge, Stuart and Dixon, Martin, Megarry & Wade: The Law of Real Property 7th ed, Sweet & Maxwell, Hardback, £165.00, ISBN: 9780421841000 Megarry & Wade is the leading title on real property and land law. It is authoritative, being cited frequently in court and drawn on by the Parliamentary draftsman. It provides a comprehensive exposition, covering the whole of the English law of real property in one volume together with related subjects such as leases, wills and intestacy, planning law and conveyancing. This new edition incorporates and explains the raft of recent legislation that has transformed property law in England & Wales: The Land Registration Act 2002, the Land Registration Rules 2003, and the Commonhold and Leasehold Reform Act 2002. It provides definitive guidance for practitioners.

worths, Hardback, £200.00, ISBN: 9781405735025

This book is the how-to bible for restructuring. The recent credit crunch and upheaval in markets looks set to drive an increase in restructurings, with legal and banking institutions preparing for a deluge of such work. No other book covers the practical aspects of out of court restructurings covering the consensual arena or looks at the law and practice in sustained and systematic way. Howard and Hedger bring a coherent and comprehensive approach to the complex practice of restructuring in the UK and beyond. The book also benefits from detailed analysis of the directors duties aspects post-CA 2006, application of International Accounting Standards, going concern issues and detailed coverage of rights issues.

Kantor, Mark, Valuation for Arbitration: Compensation Standards, Valuation Methods and Expert Evidence, Kluwer Law International,

Hardback, £89.00, ISBN: 9789041127358

When competing expert witnesses provide widely divergent estimates of value—each doing an excellent job of highlighting the weaknesses of the evidence from the opposing expert witness—how does an arbitrator arrive at an independent and equitable determination? Breaking through conceptual roadblocks that at bottom are based on a lack of exposure to valuation procedures rather than on any uncertainty about legal principles, this enormously useful volume is addressed particularly to the many arbitrators with sound commercial knowledge but little hands-on experience with valuation studies.

Kettell, Brian, Introduction to Islamic Banking and Finance, Kettell, Paperback, £50.00

ISBN: 9780955835100

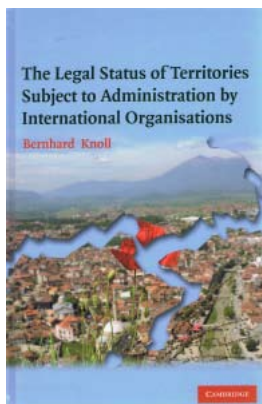

This book explains the fundamental points of convergence and divergence between Shari'ah compliant finance and mainstream interest-based finance. Comprehensive and detailed, the book is an excellent first read for banking professionals and others in order to understand where Islamic Banking comes from, what philosophies underlie it and the major components of Shariah compliant banking and finance.

Kirchhoff, Lars, Constructive Interventions: Paradigms, Process and Practice of International Mediation, Kluwer Law International, Hardback, £89.00, ISBN: 9789041126856

In the contemporary discipline of conflict resolution, adjudication and alternative dispute resolution (ADR) are often seen as antagonistic trends. This important book contends that, on the contrary, it is the bringing together of these trends that holds the most promise for an effective system of international justice. With great insight and passion, built firmly on a vast knowledge of the field, Lars Kirchhoff exposes the contemporary structural barriers to effective conflict resolution, defining where adjudication ends and ADR—and particularly the recent development of mediated third party intervention from an ‘art’ to a veritable ‘science’—must come into play.

Knoll, Bernhard, Legal Status of Territories Subject to Administration by International Organisations,

Cambridge University Press, Hardback, £75.00, ISBN: 9780521885836

The international community's practice of administering territories in post-conflict environments has raised important legal questions. Using Kosovo as a case study, Bernhard Knoll analyses the identity of the administering UN organ, the ways in which the territories under consideration have acquired partial subjectivity in international law and the nature of legal obligations in the fiduciary exercise of transitional administration developed within the League of Nations' Mandate and the UN Trusteeship systems.

Koopmans, S, Diplomatic Dispute Settlement: The Use of Inter-State Conciliation, T.M.C. Asser Press,

Hardback, £55.00, ISBN: 9789067042604

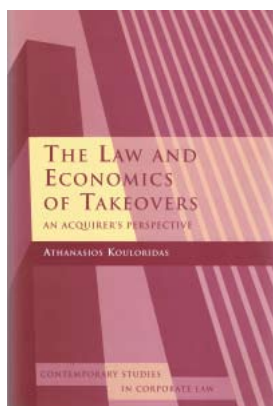

Variations of conciliation are included in many instruments, particularly in multi-lateral agreements concerning the environment, human rights, international trade and investment protection. Conciliation is also used on an ad hoc basis for the resolution of disputes between States, such as in border conflicts. Nevertheless, the method is rarely studied in depth from either a legal or political aspect. Focusing on conciliation in a broad sense (including variations of mediation, inquiry and non-compliance mechanisms), Sven Koopmans offers a timely discussion of non-binding dispute settlement between States. The book argues that the lack of familiarity with conciliation both causes its popularity in treaties and its difficulties in practice.

Kostakopoulou, Dora , The Future Governance of Citizenship, Cambridge University Press, Paperback, £23.99, ISBN: 9780521701785

In much of the citizenship literature it is often considered, if not simply assumed, that citizenship is integral to the character of a self-determining community and that this process, by definition, involves the exclusion of resident ‘foreigners’. Kostakopoulou develops a new institutional framework for anational citizenship, which can be grafted onto the existing state system, defends it against objections and proposes institutional reform based on an innovative approach to citizenship.

Koulouridas, Athanasios, Law and Economics of Takeovers: An Acquirer's Perspective, Hart Publishing, Hardback, £50.00, ISBN: 9781841136646

This book studies takeovers from the acquirer's perspective. More precisely the book focuses on the legal and regulatory treatment of the risks faced by the acquiring company shareholders in takeovers. The identified risks are categorised into two main groups: first, risks generated by managerial choices and second, regulatory or external risks. The analysis considers the legal context but also draws on the economic literature, seeking to map the area under consideration and to suggest measures to improve the present position from both law and economics perspective.

Cambridge University Press, Paperback, £12.99, ISBN: 9780521728294

Nicola Lacey argues that harsh ‘penal populism’ is not the inevitable fate of all contemporary democracies. Notwithstanding a degree of convergence, globalisation has left many of the key institutional differences between national systems intact, and these help to explain the striking differences in the capacity for penal tolerance in otherwise relatively similar societies. Only by understanding the institutional preconditions for a tolerant criminal justice system can we think clearly about the possible options for reform within particular systems.

Loveless, Janet, Complete Criminal Law: Texts, Cases and Materials, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £28.99, ISBN: 9780199228287

Complete Criminal Law: Text, Cases, & Materials offers a student-centered approach to the criminal law syllabus. Clear and concise explanation of general legal principles is combined with fully integrated extracts from the leading cases and a wide range of academic materials. The extracts have been carefully selected to ensure that they are detailed enough to illustrate the point of law under consideration, but succinct enough not to disrupt the flow of the text or to intimidate the student new to the study of criminal law.

Lowe, Vaughan; Roberts, Adam; Welsh, Jennifer; Zaum, Dominik, The United Nations Security Council and War: The Evolution of Thought and Practice since 1945, Oxford University Press, Hardback, £90.00, ISBN: 9780199533435

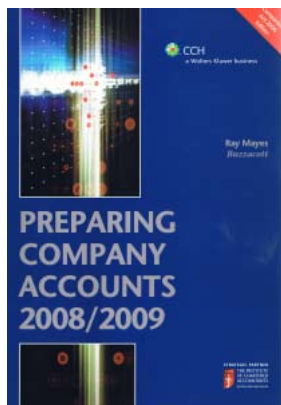

This is the first major exploration of the United Nations Security Council's part in addressing the problem of war, both civil and international, since 1945. Both during and after the Cold War the Council has acted in a limited and selective manner, and its work has sometimes resulted in failure. It has not been - and was never equipped to be - the centre of a comprehensive system of collective security. However, it remains the body charged with primary responsibility for international peace and security. It offers unique opportunities for international consultation and military collaboration, and for developing legal and normative frameworks. It has played a part in the reduction in the incidence of international war in the period since 1945.

Luhmann, Niklas, Law as a Social System, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £24.99, ISBN: 9780199546121

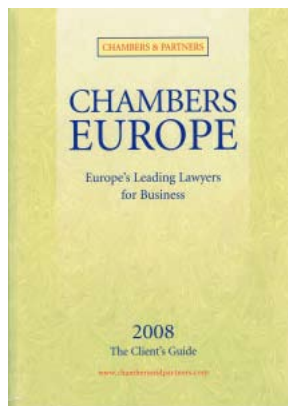

Modern systems theory provides a new paradigm for the analysis of society. In this volume, Niklas Luhmann, its leading exponent, explores its implications for our understanding of law. Luhmann argues that current thinking about how law operates within a modern society is seriously deficient. In this volume he lays out the theoretical and methodological tools that, he argues, can advance our understanding of contemporary society and, in particular, of the identity, performance, and function of the legal system within that society.

norms of international law (jus cogens). A comprehensive study of this problem has been lacking so far in international legal doctrine. Peremptory norms, although often criticised and even more often approached with sceptical nihilism, nevertheless attract growing doctrinal and practical attention and have increasing importance in determining the permissible limits on the action of State and non-State actors in different areas. In view of this overriding impact on what might otherwise be instances of the law-making process, peremptory norms concern a constitutional aspect of international law.

Poole, Jill, Textbook on Contract Law 9th ed, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £24.99, ISBN: 9780199233519

This ninth edition of the established Textbook on Contract Law by Jill Poole provides a wide-ranging and straightforward exposition of contract law. The text opens with an overview of the main issues surrounding contract law which places the subject in its wider context, then goes on to give a clear explanation of all the major areas of contract law encountered on undergraduate courses.

Sarat, Austin, The Cultural Lives of Cause Lawyers, Cambridge University Press, Paperback, £22.99, ISBN: 9780521711357

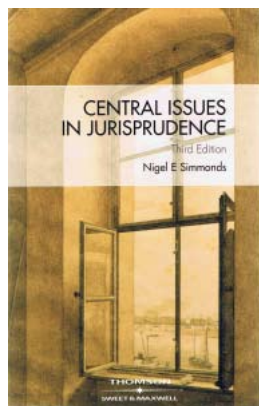

This book seeks to illuminate what we call the cultural lives of cause lawyers by examining their representation in various popular media (including film, fiction, mass-marketed non-fiction, television, and journalism), the work they do as creators of cultural products, and the way those representations and products are received and consumed by various audiences. By attending to media representations and the culture work done by cause lawyers, we can see what material is available for citizens and others to use in fashioning understandings of those lawyers.

together with some proposals from the Auld Review. Since the new provisions came into force a body of case-law has interpreted them and, in particular, given guidance as to how the new “inclusionary discretion” should be exercised. Following the style of his earlier book about the new law on bad character evidence, the central part of Professor Spencer’s book on hearsay evidence consists of section-by-section commentary on the relevant provisions of the Act. The commentary is preceded by chapters on the history of the hearsay rule, and the requirements of Article 6(3)(d) of the European Convention on Human Rights. It is followed by an appendix containing the text of the statutory provisions and a selection of the leading cases.

Stahn, Carsten, The Law and Practice of International Territorial Administration: Versailles to Iraq and Beyond, Cambridge University Press, Hardback, £95.00, ISBN: 9780521878005

International actors have played an active role in the administration of territories over the past two centuries. This book analyses the genesis and law and practice of international territorial administration, covering all experiments from the Treaty of Versailles to contemporary engagements such as the conflict in Iraq. The book discusses the background, legal framework and practice of international territorial administration, including its relationship to related paradigms (internationalisation, mandate administration, Trusteeship administration and occupation).

Stahn, Carsten; Kleffner, Jann K., Jus Post Bellum: Towards a Law of Transition From Conflict to Peace, T.M.C. Asser Press, Hardback, £45.00, ISBN: 9789067042727

Warfare is usually theorised in the categories of jus ad bellum (justification for recourse to force) and jus in bello (rules applicable in armed conflict). The challenge of establishing fair and sustainable peace after conflict (jus post bellum) has received less attention in existing law and practice, although it has an established tradition in just war theory. This book sheds a fresh light on the use and relevance of the concept of jus post bellum in contemporary international law and policy. It examines the origins and foundations of the concept from an inmatism, Practical Reasoning and Principles, Cambridge University Press, Hardback, £27.99, ISBN: 9780521066884

This book seeks to bridge the gap between legal theory and judicial practice. The author propounds a coherent and comprehensive judicial methodology for modern times. Founded on the truism that the law exists to serve society, and adopting the twin criteria of justice and contemporaneity with the times, a judicial methodology is developed which is realistic and pragmatic and which embraces a revised conception of practical reasoning, including in that conception a critical role for legal principles.

the WTO, Cambridge University Press, Paperback, £23.99, ISBN: 9780521728683

The Handbook provides the first detailed explanation and analysis of the process whereby governments become Members of the WTO. The WTO Agreement, which came into force on 1 January, 1995, provides few details on how this process is to take place. Consequently, the steps in the detailed negotiations leading up to access have evolved through the actual negotiations for governments which have become Members of the WTO since 1995. This handbook is unique in providing an account of how the process evolved and in offering details on the process as it is now applied. Moreover, the input of the WTO Secretariat into the preparation of the guide provides information not available until now to anyone outside the Secretariat. The Secretariat has supported production of this handbook in the hope it will serve as a useful source of reference for officials from acceding governments, WTO

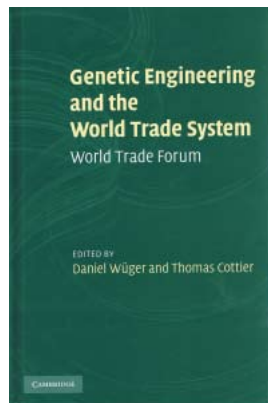

Members, academia, and the general public.

Witte, John; Alexander, Frank S., Christianity and Law: An Introduction, Cambridge University Press, Paperback, £17.99, ISBN: 9780521697491

What impact has Christianity had on the law from its beginnings to the present day? This introduction explores the main legal teachings of Western Christianity, set out in the texts and traditions of scripture and theology, philosophy and jurisprudence. It takes up the weightier matters of the law that Christianity has profoundly shaped – justice and mercy, rule and equity, discipline and love – as well as more technical topics of canon law, natural law, and state law. Some of these legal creations were wholly original to Christianity. Others were converted from Jewish and classical traditions.

Wüger, Daniel; Cottler, Thomas, Genetic Engineering and the World Trade System, Cambridge University Press, Hardback, £60.00, ISBN: 9780521883603

While the WTO agreements do not regulate the use of biotechnology per se, their rules can have a profound impact on the use of the technology for both commercial and non-commercial purposes. This book seeks to identify the challenges to international trade regulation that arise from biotechnology.

WILDY'S TRIPS AROUND THE WORLD IN 2008

A chance to meet our representatives at conferences and other venues

June 27th – July 3rd John Pethick will be in the Cayman Islands staying at the Treasure Island Resort 3rd July – 21st July he will be in Jamaica staying at the Hilton Hotel; the CARALL Conference 6th – 10th July, & University of the West Indies 60th Anniversary celebrations 12th July – 19th July

August 22nd – 30th The Nigerian Bar Association Conference in Abuja John Sinkins, Steve Ross and John Pethick will be attending

October 12 – 17 John Sinkins & Steven Ross will be at IBA in Buenos Aires

November 21st – December 10th John Pethick will be in Hong Kong staying at the Wesley Hotel

Anguilla

John Pethick would like to give a big thank you to Don & Maggie Mitchell, for putting him and his wife up in their house for the 2 weeks they were in Anguilla. John met up with old friends that he has grown to know over the years. The trip was made a lot easier thanks to the new book due out in September, Caribbean Civil Court Practice, which he managed to sell to every chambers in Anguilla as well as the courts etc!

Wildy's would like to offer Cora Hodge our condolences on the loss of her mum while John was there. John and Vicki would like to thank everyone for making them feel welcome. He did not mind getting up in the early hours one Saturday to help the local rotary maintain their roundabout near Shoal bay, as it allowed him and Vicki time after to have the weekends to themselves. This was a first for John and allowed them time to go and visit St Marten on the ferry.

Tottel Publishing, Hardback, ISBN 9781847662507, £85.00, due July 2008

This is the new edition of what is said to be the most useful single volume on the subject, covering all aspects of consumer credit and consumer hire, contract terms, credit products, security instruments, procedures, practical problems and regulatory controls. It has been extensively updated and rewritten, taking into account all relevant case law and legislative changes and developments. It also contains useful information on the credit industry, including statistical details on credit and debit cards, licences and fraud. Written in a clear and penetrating style, this book draws on the author's long experience as a practising solicitor specialising in the area. It is essential reading for anybody who has to grapple with UK legislation governing credit, hire and ancillary credit business.

Facts and Figures 2008/09: Tables for the Calculation of Damages

By the Professional Negligence Bar Association
SweetandMaxwell, Softcover, ISBN 9781847034991, £47.50, due August 2008

When it comes to preparing and arguing cases involving damages, Facts and Figures is the essential desktop companion. Special damages constitute an important part of personal injury claims and preparing a schedule of damages is a complex and time consuming procedure. The new 2008/09 edition makes the entire calculation process quicker, easier and more accurate. It contains the new 6th edition of the Ogden Tables. Drawn from a broad range of authoritative and reliable primary sources, this comprehensive reference has been compiled by specialist practitioners, ensuring that all the information that you need for assessing damages is contained within one source.

Lasting Powers of Attorney: A Practical Guide

By Craig Ward

Law Society Publishing, Softcover, ISBN 9781853285035, £44.95, due July 2008

Lasting Powers of Attorney replace Enduring Powers of Attorney as an instrument to delegate decision-making regulated by the principles of the Mental Capacity Act and exercised with regard to the guidance in the Code of Practice. An LPA may now be registered to delegate decision-making about not only financial and property matters but also a wide range of personal and welfare matters. This practical book explains how the new scheme differs from EPAs and presents a step-by-step guide to advising a client of the options available to them under the MCA 2005, creating an LPA using the prescribed forms, registration of an LPA, the operation of an LPA and challenges and revocation of an LPA. To help practitioners comply with the multitude of associated rules, regulations, and guidance there are helpful checklists and procedures to follow at each stage, illustrated by extracts from the Act and Code. The book also gives a clear account of the related provisions of the Mental Capacity Act on which clients wishing to make an LPA may need advice, such as Advance Decisions and Deputies. In addition, the appendix contains all the most relevant chapters of the MCA Code of Practice and the full text of the Law Society's Practice Note.

Delay Analysis in Construction

By John P. Keane and Anthony F. Caletka
Wiley-Blackwell,
Hardback, ISBN 9781405156547, £65.00, due August 2008

The most significant unanticipated costs on many construction projects are the financial impacts associated with delay and disruption to the works. Assessing these, and establishing a causal link from each delay event to its effect, contractual liability and the damages experienced as a direct result of each event, can be difficult and complex. This book is a practical guide to the process of delay analysis and includes an in-depth review of the primary methods of delay analysis, together with the assumptions that underlie the precise calculations required in any quantitative delay analysis. The techniques discussed can be used on projects of any size, under all forms of construction contract, both domestic and international. The authors discuss not only delay analysis techniques, but also their appropriateness under given circumstances, demonstrating how combined approaches may be applied where necessary. They also consider problematic issues including 'who owns the float', concurrent delay, early completion programmes, and disruption. The book, which is well illustrated, features practical worked examples and case studies demonstrating the techniques commonly used by experienced practitioners. This is an invaluable resource to contractors, architects, engineers, surveyors, programmers and delay analysts, and will also be of interest to clients' professional advisors managing extension of time or delay claims, as well as construction lawyers who require a better understanding of the underlying assumptions on which many quantitative delay analyses are based.

Tenants' Right of First Refusal 2nd edition

By Anthony Radevsky and Wayne Clark
Jordan Publishing, Softcover, ISBN 9781846611100, £75.00, due September 2008

Tenant's Right of First Refusal is a comprehensive and authoritative guide to all aspects of residential tenants' right of first refusal under the Landlord and Tenant Act 1987. It will provide practitioners with an analysis of the law from both the landlord's and the tenants' point of view, guiding the reader through the intricacies of an Act described by the judiciary as 'ill drafted, complicated and confused.' This new edition has been extensively revised and updated and takes on board the latest case-law on the subject. In addition, a comprehensive selection of draft notices under the Act are included in an Appendix together with all relevant legislation in a fully consolidated form.

Climate Change: A Guide to Carbon Law and Practice

By Paul Q. Watchman
Globe Business Publishing, Hardback, ISBN 9781905783120, £110.00, due July 2008

The development of the carbon markets on the back of laws designed to mitigate climate change has been swift. Billions of euros of emission rights are now being traded around the world under cap and trade markets such as the EU Emissions Trading Scheme and from projects under the Kyoto Protocol. This market looks set to expand significantly over the next few years, with a number of countries, including the United States and Australia, considered likely to introduce market-based climate change mitigation measures. In addition, climate change issues are now impacting on a number of other more traditional practice areas for lawyers, including litigation, transactional work and real estate. This important new title introduces climate change law and describes how it has evolved. The book describes how carbon projects - particularly those under the Kyoto Protocol - are set up and operated, and how the credits from those projects are brought to the market. It also describes the operation of the carbon markets, with an exploration of how the current markets may be expanded to create a global market in the future. The final part considers how climate change issues are impacting on other areas such as accountancy and taxation, corporate social responsibility, transactions, litigation, competition and real estate. This book provides an in-depth overview of the current climate change issues facing lawyers and other professionals, including accountants, consultants, bankers and tax advisers. It provides a valuable source of information for those new to this fast-evolving sector through to more experienced climate change professionals.

Anti-Suit Injunction

By Thomas Raphael
Oxford University Press, Hardback, ISBN 9780199287321, £95.00, due September 2008

This book provides a comprehensive but concise analysis of all the relevant principles and case law surrounding anti-suit injunctions. It also provides a vital resource to address the many practical problems likely to confront a practitioner applying for or resisting an anti-suit injunction in urgent circumstances. There are also chapters on related topics that frequently occur in anti-suit cases, such as the scope of exclusive jurisdiction clauses. The main focus of the book is English law, but it also contains chapters summarising the relevant law in other common law jurisdictions such as the USA, Canada and Australia. Recent significant developments in the law relating to anti-suit injunctions created by the decision of the ECJ in Turner v Grovit have left many questions open on the effects of this case. This book will be the first major treatment of anti-suit injunctions and will examine in detail those effects, and evaluate the case law as it develops. The chapters are concise and have clearly laid out structures with a selection of useful precedents and templates, helpful to a practitioner when preparing applications under pressure. Comprehensive analysis of relevant case law, including analysis of relevant foreign laws, allows a comparative approach to issues of principle, and enables predictions to be made as to how foreign courts might respond to anti-suit injunctions. Separate chapters dealing with history and fundamental topics of controversy allow a detailed exploration of difficult questions in complicated cases.

Butterworths Company Law Handbook 2008 22nd edition

Edited by Keith Walmsley, LexisNexis Butterworths, Softcover, ISBN 9781405728270, £65.00, due September 2008
Published annually, Butterworths Company Law Handbook is widely regarded as the essential company law reference work, setting out the relevant texts of the most important statutes, statutory instruments and European legislation. Known to many as 'the Blue Book', the handbook also provides comprehensive coverage of the legislation governing partnerships. The legislation is printed as currently in force (taking into account all amendments, repeals and revocations), with cross-references to other legislation and to commencement tables and fees and forms tables where necessary). This is the essential reference source for corporate lawyers, accountants, company secretaries, tax advisers, regulators and students.

Consular Law and Practice 3rd edition

By Luke T. Lee and John Quigley
Oxford University Press, Hardback, ISBN 9780198298519, £125.00, due July 2008

First published in 1961, Consular Law and Practice is a classic work of great interest and practical use to diplomats, consuls, and international lawyers. When persons are out of their home country, consuls are their link with home and a source of assistance. The roles of consuls are many and varied. Consuls promote commerce between the home country and the host country and assist business people in making contacts and in completing commercial transactions. Consuls also handle problems that arise for seafarers and merchant shipping vessels of the home country when they are in port in the host country. When a home country citizen dies while in the host country, consuls may facilitate burial or shipment of the remains home, or deal with the person's estate. Consuls assist individuals arrested on a criminal charge in the host state by visiting them in jail, advising them about the legal system of the host state, and helping to find them a lawyer. If the person is convicted, consuls visit them in prison and may help to secure a transfer to a prison in the home country. This fully updated third edition explains consular privileges and immunities and how consular functions are handled in time of peace and war, when the receiving state experiences civil war, or when the sending and receiving states break off diplomatic or consular relations.

Sexual Offences

By Richard Card, Alisdair Gillespie and Michael Hirst
Jordan Publishing, Hardback, ISBN 9781846611223, £75.00, due August 2008

Sexual Offences is a major new work providing a clear, detailed and authoritative analysis of this complicated area of criminal law. This new work builds on the success of Sexual Offences: The New Law, which examined in detail the provisions of the Sexual Offences Act 2003. In contrast it deals with all sexual offences including non-statutory offences, and examines how the Sexual Offences Act 2003 operates in practice, looking in detail at supporting legislation, case law and the Sentencing Guidelines. Other matters such as evidence, anonymity of complainant and restrictions on reporting, sentencing, notification requirements, preventative orders on complaint are dealt with in detail. The full text of the Sexual Offences Act 2003 together with the Sentencing Guidelines Council's Guidelines on Sexual Offences are included.

FROM WIG AND PEN TO COMPUTER
REFLECTIONS OF A LEGAL AUTHOR

By Eric Stockdale

ISBN: 97808549002253

Hardback pp
£19.95

Eric Stockdale left school at 14 and went to work in wartime London. After two years in the post-war Army he was called to the Bar at the age of 21 and appointed a Circuit judge shortly after his 43rd. birthday. He took early retirement at 65 and then heard Criminal Injuries Compensation appeals for ten years.

When he became a barrister in 1950 he was a young man with an unusual background, which included 'a pathetic attempt' (his words) to follow several relatives into journalism. After his failure to break into Fleet Street, Eric Stockdale decided to earn his living from chambers in the adjoining Temple. His ability to write led to the publication of many articles, followed by books on criminal justice and historical topics, culminating with two works inspired by the links of many leaders of the American Revolution with his own Inn of Court, the Middle Temple. As this book is about his experiences as a legal author, it also deals briefly with his life in the law and describes how he became interested in the different subjects about which he wrote.

Sir Igor Judge, in his Foreword, comments: 'This is a remarkable story by any standards,' and adds, 'much is written humorously.' The reader, whether lawyer or layman, is likely to concur with that judgment.
